This project proposes adding five low-profile security cameras to the exterior of First Baptist Church, Salisbury Street. Four of the five locations are on non-character-defining facades: the Edenton Street entrance (north elevation), the rear parking lot entrance (west elevation), the Hillsborough Street entrance (south elevation), and the side parking lot entrance on the east elevation.

The fifth location is on the building's primary character defining elevation, over the front door. The device, however, is very small and within the context of the front elevation, it will be minimally noticeable.

The project meets guideline 2.2.3 by attaching the camera to the recess around the front door using 2 screws and drilling with a 5/8" or smaller drill bit.

The project meets guideline 2.11.5 because given the small size of the camera relative to the façade, the camera does not compromise the original design of the entrance. It also meets guideline 2.11.8 because all other cameras are located on non-character-defining elements.
