Stakeholder Question: What is the status of the fee review for the FY22 budget?

City of Raleigh Response: The existing fee model has been updated to include current staff, time to complete tasks and permit data. We have identified an external consultant who is beginning work to review the base model. The consultant will identify any opportunities for improvement in the base model and will review and validate method for Planning and Matrix department fees that currently do not have a model for recurring updates. Additional information will be provided as it is available.
