

Active Adult Trip - Juniper Level Botanic Garden

Spend the day discovering a local garden.
Tuesday, May 14, 2024

Juniper Level Botanic Garden was established in 1986 when Raleigh native Tony Avent and his wife Michelle purchased a 2.2 acre abandoned sandy loam tobacco. Their vision is to collect, study, preserve, propagate, and share plants for a better world. Now the garden is over 28 acres and filled with more than 27,000 taxa of plants, including native perennials, exotic plants, rare delights, and an array of incredible and unusual specimen trees and shrubs you won't see anywhere else in the world.

- Depart from Anne Gordon Active Adult Center at 9:15 a.m.
- Learn about the history and future of the garden and their extensive research.
- Spend some time and money in their nursery.
- Stroll around the Farmers Market and enjoy lunch on your own at one of their two restaurants.
- Return to Anne Gordon Center around 3:00 p.m.

Cost: $25/Residents, $40/Non-residents
